

Home Runs for Hope Expands to the Dominican Republic

Lexington, KY, May 13, 2011 – Fortune Hi-Tech Marketing, Inc. has expanded its Home Runs for Hope program to the Dominican Republic. During a recent trip to the Dominican Republic, FHTM Chief Executive Officer Tom Mills, saw children using sticks for baseball bats and balls made of tape. That inspired FHTM to send new baseball equipment to those deserving children.

“Our FHTM Independent Representatives really stepped up for this project. They helped out by donating enough bats, balls and gloves to make a lot of children happy,” said FHTM Chief Executive Officer Tom Mills.

Home Runs for Hope also provides a day of fun at the ball park for abused, neglected and homeless children. FHTM joined with Big Brothers Big Sisters, The Center for Women Children and Families and The Salvation Army to provide box seats to see the Lexington Legends, the Class A affiliate of the Houston Astros. The children, along with their mentors, guardians or parents, enjoy hours of minor league baseball in a friendly and comfortable setting.
